I simply wanted to report that due to COVID-19 and my own health condition, this was the very first time that I voted by mail. I received the application for absentee voting on time for my wife and me.

My wife and I applied online for our ballots on Wednesday, June 10th. My wife received her absentee ballot on Friday, June 19th. When I saw that she received her ballot and mine didn't come, I then called the voter assistance line and the representative was very helpful informing me how the ballots went out but couldn't really help stating that all ballots went out. So on Saturday, June 20th I was, in the end, planning to go to the polls physically but my own ballot came that morning and both my wife and I was able to complete and mail in the absentee ballots.
